Three new ranges in 2011

We introduced 3 ranges - and 3 totally different looks; The Gardens of Amsterdam gave us florals and harlequin prints; we offered pretty pearls and brocades in Brocante; and Chacran introduced natural hessians, slubby weaves and grasscloths. BN Wallcoverings bring a European outlook to design - we take classics, add texture and give them a contemporary twist.

Whats new in 2012?

Industrial chic - it's big!

We've seen salvage furniture and lighting making it's way into interiors. And now walls? It's all about cement block, unpainted wood, brick and raw concrete effects. In neutral colours they offer a truly versatile background - use with splashes of any colour or metal surfaces.

Florals and Faded Elegance

Not so much a trend, but a strong ongoing desire for vintage, homely surfaces. It's subtle, so opt for small-scale florals or dainty lace with distressed paint finishes. Key colours in this look are faded versions of peppermint, sage, lemon, old rose and powder blue.

Making shapes

Retro continues as a strong theme - and we're now seeing 1970's coming through. This era is about super-shiny surfaces, big bold shapes and spirograph-style shapes. You'll definitely be making a statement! Mix splashes of bright colours with plenty of white and combine with simple unfussy furniture shapes.
