The Gardens of Amsterdam

Watch the video

In The Gardens of Amsterdam, Annet Van Egmond's ideas are drawn from her own home, her surroundings, and her architectural heritage.

Intricate ironwork, soft ferns and climbing roses are woven into her designs; aged stucco ornaments and intricate plasterwork are key features. Her designs remind us of the grand old houses of Amsterdam — elegant, timeless and offering a glimpse into the life of the Golden Age.
